VALEDICTORY.

I take pleasure in introducing Mr. Emin Elam, of Hazel Green, to the readers of THE MOUNTAINEER. With this issue Mr. Elam becomes editor and publisher of THE MOUNTAINEER and will assume all responsibility for the contents of the paper.

He is regarded by the Kentucky press as one of the leading journalists of the State. Col. R. R. Perry, the famous retired journalist of Winchester, said to the writer, "Emin Elam is the most promising young newspaper man in Kentucky." The people of Magoffin county should appreciate such a journalist and give him all the support possible. In fact, he is widely known in all literary circles as a gifted writer of both prose and verse.

Knowing Mr. Elam's newspaper record as I do, I can safely predict that Magoffin county will now have one of the liveliest, newsmiest and most up-to-date country newspapers in the State. If in doubt, just watch these columns for a few weeks!

I shall not be responsible for anything that appears in these columns unless my name appears thereto. Yours for general progress, S. S. ELAM.

OUR SALUTATION.

We have forfeited many business interests as well as numerous other things that go to make this mortal life worth the living to come to Salyersville and put our whole soul and energy into THE KENTUCKY MOUNTAINEER; to labor and strive to make it worthy its name and to guide it upon a plane that will admit of its work and deeds being held in the right sort of favor in the hall of fame upon the hearts of all Magoffin county people; to make it one of the best newspapers of its ilk in the State of Kentucky; to exert ourself to the utmost to make it a great factor in assisting in the moral, social and educational uplift of Eastern Kentucky, and, succinctly, to perform the righteous duty of any live and enterprising local publication. If we are encouraged with only the support any county should show a newspaper that is trying to do things for the betterment of the community generally and a proper appreciation of the strenuous efforts we shall put forth, then we will be content and go on like the brook—"running with a song forever."

We do not come to your midst, dear readers, as a total stranger, for we have been in Magoffin county more or less for years, and, in fact, have only come from your next door neighbor, Wolfe county. The mountains should work harmoniously and incessantly to erase the stains that have unfortunately gathered upon their breast; in so doing we are long will see our wealthy and worthy hills blossom as the flower bed. We are not a son of your town or county, it is sadly true, but neither are Doctors Connelley, Kash and Cisco, all of whom you have taken fondly to your bosoms, and who have proved worthy the trust and developed into most loyal and enterprising citizens of Salyersville and Magoffin county. Wherefore, then, can you find an idea to hold against an editor? Let us co-operate and strike our best lies for great progress; we all of us are working for the welfare of Eastern Kentucky.

We are not here asking alms; we are conducting a business institution, and we intend to even give the people more than their money's worth. We have always admired the sagacity of Magoffin county people, and hoping that they will unite their wisdom with our labor and enable us to publish an A-1 paper, we are,

Yours for mountain achievement, EMIN ELAM.

W. A. MAY'S CANDIDACY.

W. A. May is announced in this week's issue as a candidate for the office of County Judge of Magoffin county. Our job department has just printed a lot of cards for him, and he carries these words on them: "I am a friend to the taxpayers, and opposed to rings, cliques and combines. I will do all in my power for good roads and bridges." This seems to us an excellent plank in a platform, and Magoffin county citizens know Mr. May is thoroughly competent to fulfill his promises.

AN ENLARGEMENT.

Since we have assumed charge we will print the entire paper at home, dropping the two pages of "ready-print." We are going to use effort to publish a first-class paper, and any news you may be able to hand us will be highly appreciated. Our print paper tailing to arrive deters us from giving our readers four pages this week. Commencing with this issue the paper will be published Thursday instead of Friday.

A PRETTY FAIR RECORD, SO.

Our optics were widened quite a bit when we struck Salyersville, gazed upon the bastille and heard not a murmur therein. It speaks well for a county to have no use for a prison. We are also informed that there has not been a single killing in Magoffin county within the past twelve months. All Lexington, Louisville and Cincinnati papers will please copy in red.

SERIOUSLY, sweetheart, don't you imagine that His Highness, the Governor of Kentucky, is playing with a ticklish hand in this ambitious deal? He must elect himself United States Senator, and he promised to never again be a candidate; serve out his enterprising (?) term and redeem Kentucky, or, at least, that is the stiff he handed us, in a very short season now!

A Good Word From a Good Man.

Emin Elam left here this morning for Salyersville, where he goes to embrace his first and only love—the newspaper darling, and the name of the beauty is just exactly what he delights in calling himself—MOUNTAINEER. Prof. S. S. Elam, who founded THE MOUNTAINEER, is too busy in the school field to devote his entire attention to the paper, and in looking about for a journalist whom he knew could and would give Magoffin county a well edited, up-to-date newspaper he wisely laid his proposition before his youthful kinsman. Emin takes absolute charge of the paper, and his alma mater—the Herald, of course—expects to see THE MOUNTAINEER come forth henceforth in the excellent manner of which he is thoroughly equipped to turn it out. Most probably this young protégé of ours—we're not boasting of ourself as a teacher—has more real qualifications to publish a good county paper than—well, we don't know—for he is a poet, novelist, practical printer and one who is likely to know what is, and is not, news. Briefly, then, he is a young gentleman in every respect, and one to whom the good people of Magoffin county may safely tie to. Success to THE KENTUCKY MOUNTAINEER and its new head.—Hazel Green Herald.

Model Mountain Roads.

A dispatch says: "Regular automobile and hack service has been put on by the Consolidation Coal Company between McRoberts and Jenkins, Letcher county. The road recently completed by the company is a model highway. Two trips a day each way are made. Only those who are familiar with previous conditions in that part of the State can appreciate the one now existing."

Kentucky's Increasing Debt.

The financial condition of the State of Kentucky has been frequently discussed in the last year, but we doubt if the people of Kentucky, who must, in the end, pay all these bills, yet understand the real situation, or the necessity of some action by the next Legislature if Kentucky is not to be involved in the quagmire that now threatens to overwhelm our sister State of Tennessee.

The actual deficit at the end of the fiscal year, July 1, will be about $2,000,000. The ordinary expenses of the State exceed the revenues of the State (with the increase of railroad assessments still held up by the Federal Court) about $500,000. The cost of Confederate pensions will, it is now conceded, reach $450,000 a year, and there is small reason to believe that this charge will fall under $500,000.

There is no reason to believe that, barring intelligent action by the Legislature next January, the State's deficit will be less than $4,000,000 by July 1, 1914, and will go on increasing to the tune of $1,000,000 a year.

On paper the deficit of the State does not show much over $2,500,000, but those who make this calculation forget that the Auditor has held and the Court of Appeals has sustained him that the Confederate pensions became a charge upon the State from the day each application was filed. Nearly 2,000 applications have been on file for more than a year. This means $400,000 in unpaid claims, but the Auditor has announced his intention of issuing interest-bearing warrants to these pensioners as rapidly as the names are furnished him.

This task cannot be completed by July 1, but the debt keeps piling up, whether the warrants are issued or not, and there is now every probability that the State of Kentucky will owe $500,000 in back payments to Confederate pensioners, and accumulated interest, before a dollar is paid out for this expense. Against this total obligation of four millions, the State has a claim against certain of the corporations, who are resisting in the Federal Court an increase of their franchise assessments.

If the State wins these assessment suits, the revenues of the State will be increased from $200,000 to $400,000 a year. If no event is there any hope of the revenues of the State equalling current expenses, including Confederate pensions, unless taxes are increased.

It is obvious, therefore, that the next Legislature must either increase the tax rate or it must reduce expenses, and this leaves out of consideration the accumulated debt. An increase in the State tax of five cents may carry temporarily the cost of Confederate pensions. Such a tax means that taxes upon all real estate in Kentucky and upon much personal property must be increased 10 per cent. to keep up with the pensions.

If it is proposed, however, to pay the State out of debt by direct taxation, the State tax rate must be increased from 50 to 60 or 70 cents, altho this could be reduced in a few years.

The most serious danger is that the Legislature will do nothing. It would be better to increase the tax rate for a few years than to allow the debt to accumulate. This money must be paid some time, and the longer the matter is postponed the more difficult will be the situation.

Gav. McCreary we know is a candidate for the Senate, and that fact overshadows the State's fiscal affairs in his mind. But the next Legislature will contain some good men, and these men must prepare to handle this situation either with or without the aid of the Governor. —Louisville Evening Post.

A Man Who Stands for Progress.

Under the new school law all new buildings, repairs for old ones and other improvements in the way of wells, seats, etc., must come directly thru the County Superintendent. Under this new law the office is one of the most, if not the most, important in the county.

I am running for that office on my qualifications, and qualifications alone. For the past several weeks I have printed in THE MOUNTAINEER some of my recommendations which have shown to the public some of the important positions I have held in Kentucky and other States. My preparation consisted of a course in Hazel Green Academy, a four-year course in State University, special work at the University of Tennessee and a three-month trip to Europe. I have held important positions in Tennessee and Louisiana as well as in my native State. Every man and woman will see that I have had the preparation and experience to enable me to give them an up-to-date service as County Superintendent. As to my honesty and energy, I believe the people generally know.

Almost every year Magoffin county has scores of her sons and daughters going to other counties and other States to live, finding they are greatly handicapped at home. It is not because they are not natives of those counties or States, for education has long since wiped out the old-time prejudice that birth counts for more than ability. If your son or daughter should go to another county or State the people will not hold it against them that they happened to be born in another section as people did some fifty years ago; but nowadays people ask, "What are your qualifications?" If these children of yours are properly prepared they can make their support anywhere in the civilized world. If, on the other hand, they are not prepared they will be crowded out. In my experience in other States I have often noted that the boys and girls of our mountains of Kentucky are by nature the brainiest in our country, but they fail recognition on account of their lack of education. If elected I promise to do all in my power to change conditions for the children of all parts of Magoffin county by giving them better schools. I claim that my work in many States and counties has enabled me to bring Magoffin county up to date, educationally, and I want to ask the voters of Magoffin county who are anxious that their children shall be better prepared to compete with all the sons and daughters of other sections to elect me to this office. In voting it is your duty to your children and county to let nothing but qualifications say whom you vote for. Yours for better country schools, S. S. ELAM.

County Seat Controversy in Wolfe.

A news item from Campton says: "The citizens of this place have subscribed $10,000 for the purpose of rebuilding the court house, which was recently destroyed by fire, and with the $6,000 insurance that was carried on the building they expect to raise enough by private subscription to build a $20,000 structure without any cost to the taxpayers of the county."

Notwithstanding Campton's advance work, Hazel Green is making practically the same effort, i. e., thru private subscription, to have the court house erected at that place when it is rebuilt. The citizens of Hazel Green have circulated the petition to have an election called, and, in fact, the future site of the court house hinges on the desire of the county, which will be determined at the November election.

Certificates Granted.

The following persons secured county school certificates in the examination held June 20 and 21: First class—J. H. Montgomery, R. B. Hale, John G. Arnett, Fred Stephens, Roland Patrick, J. F. McKenzie and W. P. Power; second class—Harrison Cooper, B. W. Carty, Leander Rudd, T. W. Reed, Wattle Caudill, S. C. Allen, Fred Carpenter and S. Y. Allen; third class—Telia Brown.

Eminent Humorist on Editors.

George Fitch, the well-known humorous writer, has written a very pocket essay on "The Editor." Fitch began his newspaper career as a reporter at $6 a week, but today is a litterateur at many times $50 a week. The last sentence of his observations, which are printed below, probably explains why Mr. Fitch gave up editing for contributing:

"An editor is a tired, nervous man who decides what shall go into a newspaper and explains why it got in afterwards."

"The editor works upstairs at antique desks entirely surrounded by old papers, and produces the results which enable the business manager to sit down stairs in a room fitted with mahogany furniture and a Persian rug and to respond to toasts at great banquets in solemn state and a dress suit."

"It is the editor's duty to feel the pulse of the world and hold the stethoscope to business; to assist at the birth of history, to translate the present, refute the past and arrange the future; to illuminate ignorance, reward merit, put the spotlight on villainy and the pulmer on reform; to make statesmen and dessicate demagogues; to elect presidents, crown heroes and secure bigger salaries for baseball pitchers; to act as an alarm clock for public opinion, as an elevator for political candidates, and as a goat for every man who says something in a careless moment and who repents later by declaring that he was misquoted; to enshrine truth, annihilate error, to bring the national tear for great misfortunes and the national laugh at great foolishness."

"For doing all this some editors get as much as $200 a month."

"An editor can lower a tariff, head off war, harness the wrath of the whole people and raise a million dollars for flood sufferers."

"And some editors are so powerful that they can raise their own salaries $10 a week."

"Editors are seldom praised, but they do not mind that. If the red-faced man who is seeking an editor fails to find him and has to lick the janitor instead, the editor is well satisfied with life."

"Editors do not often ride in automobiles and if they save any money the business office feels as cheap about it as if it had paid too much for printer's ink."

"Some men are born editors but more of them die at the job."

Children Under 14 Can't be Employed.

Children under the age of fourteen years cannot legally be employed by persons other than their parents. Attorney-General Garnett so declared in his written opinion to Commissioner of Agriculture Newman. Many requests were received by Mr. Newman from parents asking that their children under fourteen be permitted to be employed during vacation by persons other than themselves. Attorney-General Garnett holds that even the Labor Inspectors shall not give a special permit for the children to become employed.

Pledge Fulfilled.

According to a pledge that I made last fall, I have deposited five dollars ($5.00) in the Salyersville Bank, subject to be checked out by the Teacher's Institute and used as prizes for the school children—similar to the School Fair held last year. GENEROSITY COST LIBERTY

CONVICT SHARES SAW WITH FELLOW CRIMINAL—DROPS PIECE AND IS DISCOVERED.

GUARD IS GIVEN PROMOTION

Frank Sayman, of Cincinnati, concealed the saw in the sole of his shoe.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Frankfort, Ky.—Only a half dozen strikes with a saw across a steel rod in the penitentiary barred Frank Sayman, of Cincinnati, a noted convict in the Kentucky reformatory, from liberty, when he dropped his saw out of the window and was compelled to retreat to his cell. Capt. Britton, of Harrodsburg, recently appointed a guard, visiting the cell house to acquaint himself with the surroundings, detected a large black string hanging from the ceiling of the solitary cell which Sayman was occupying. Instead of the steel rod, and reported the case to Warden Wells, who discovered the attempt at delivery made by Sayman. Sam Spencer, of Louisville, a negro convict occupying the adjoining solitary cell, heard Sam sawing and begged him to give him half of the saw, which Sayman had concealed between the soles of his shoes. Sayman complied with Spencer's request, and his generosity cost him his liberty, for he could have used the saw he gave to Spencer, when he dropped his saw out the window. Sayman had been put in solitary confinement for refusing to work. Britton was promoted for his "wide awakenedness."

Students Make Good Records.

Kentuckians in school at Nashville have made splendid records during the past year. In the graduating class of the medical department of Vanderbilt university this year there were eight young Kentuckians. They are as follows: Owen Hobson Clifton, Murray, Ky.; George Anderson Crafton, Fulton, Ky.; Samuel Richards Guthrie, Franklin, Ky.; Clinton Culbert Meacham, Fulton, Ky.; Willie Hal Neal, Drake, Ky.; Richard Hubert Perry, Russellville, Ky.; Elroy Scruggs, Murray, Ky.; Burnett Wilford Wright, Bowling Green, Ky. Last year at Belmont one of the honor pupils was Miss Annie McIntyre Cox, of Madisonville, Ky., while this year the graduating class at Ward's academy contained four pretty young Kentucky girls—Misses Mary Mitchell Clay, Frances Clay, Esther Walton, Elizabeth Klug.

New Disease Among Horses.

Prominent citizens, including many stock raisers of Boyle and Garrard counties, have written to Representative Harvey Helm during the last few days telling of a mysterious disease which has attacked the horses and mules of that section of Kentucky. They say it is unlike anything they have known before and is causing considerable alarm. Mr. Helm took the matter up with the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture. The department at once telegraphed to the representative of the bureau of animal industry at Louisville, directing him to communicate by wire with the district where the disease has shown itself and later to go there in person and make an investigation.

Suffragettes at Fairs.

The leaders of the state woman's suffrage movement are much pleased with the work done in behalf of their cause during the meeting of the Kentucky Educational association in Louisville several weeks ago, and they now propose to place woman suffrage tents at the State fair, the Bluegrass fair and practically every county fair in Kentucky, according to a statement given out from the state headquarters of the Woman's Suffrage association.

The 1912 election was void because the constitution requires all elections to be held on the regular election day.

Dynamiting Spoils Fishing.

Local fishermen are complaining of the dynamiting of a famous fishing hole at the mouth of the Elkhorn, just below Frankfort in the Kentucky river, by a government dredge boat crew. Editor To Be Honored.

Work on the monument to be placed over the grave of Theodore O'Hara, noted as poet and editor, in the Frankfort cemetery, probably will begin shortly. Plans for the monument have been under way since July, 1912, and it was announced that a general conference between Lieut. Gov. McElmott and the committee will be held in Frankfort soon. This committee is composed of Mrs. Jennie C. Morton, Miss Sally Jackson and W. W. Longmire. The top of the monument will be in the shape of a harp.

Women Are To Do Truck Gardening.

Iowa has asked for an immediate shipment of 500 women who will be given an opportunity to support themselves while they acquire enough to pay for small farms and start the plan of colonization which Mrs. Kate Trimble Woolsey, a Kentucky woman, whose home in Covington, Ky., has made part of her back-to-the-farm movement. Mrs. Woolsey, who believes that it lies with women to defeat the high cost of living by raising foodstuffs, has been appointed by Gov. Sulzer as a delegate to the International Agricultural Conference in Rome, Italy. Since her scheme has been made public she has been deluged with letters, and she announced the Iowa proposition, though she declined to give the name of the section which will so gladly assume the charm of 500 women.

"The request comes from the Chamber of Commerce," said Mrs. Woolsey. "It is the center of an agricultural district and there is apparently no matrimonial string in the case. My idea is to get women out of the shops, factories and the streets. This will require capital. My idea is that we should take no free gifts. If we pay no matter how small a price we shall avoid all red tape. I have already been offered much land free, but I consider that a bad way to begin."

Mrs. Woolsey expects to sail soon for Italy, but will leave her secretary in charge of the bureau. She is the only woman among the several hundred delegates from this country to the agricultural convention.

Jail Delivery Nipped in Bud.

An order entered at the Kentucky reformatory to transfer to Eddyville penitentiary, Allen Hall, a murderer of Pulaski county, serving a life sentence, and Clarence Fryer, a negro murderer of Garrard county, serving a life sentence, disclosed that Warden Wells nipped in the bud a desperate plan for a general delivery of convicts.

It was planned to make the delivery on the Sunday the local baseball season opened, but the death of Warden Mudd prevented it. Soon after Warden Wells took charge he scented trouble, and as a result of an examination of 30 convicts he learned that the attempted delivery would be made June 9, which is Flower Mission Day. The blowing of the prison whistle for dinner was to be the signal for the convicts to attack the guards simultaneously and disarm them. The convicts planned to grab the women of the mission societies, who were distributing flowers, and use them as shields from the attacks of the outside guards.

Mercer and Madison Not Raised.

Madison and Mercer counties' assessments were not raised by the State Board of Equalization. Carroll county was raised 10 per cent on land; Owens, 15 on land and 10 on lots; Rockcastle, 10 on land and lots, and Scott, 6 on land and lots.

Kentucky Quail Being Shipped.

Q. Ward, of the game and fish commission. Shippers of Gallatin county were promised that if they would give evidence against the consuequers, they would be let off with one conviction each, though there were numerous cases against them.

VETERANS TO MEET ON BATTLEFIELD

Reunion of Blue and Gray Armies to Be Held at Gettysburg, July 1, 2, 3.

40,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND

State of Pennsylvania Extends Invitation to All Soldiers Who Fought in Conflict Fifty Years Ago—Good Time Assured All.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Veterans of the Civil War, both Blue and Gray, will again meet, after fifty years, on the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa., on July 1. This time it will be a reunion and past differences will be but a memory.

The state of Pennsylvania on May 13, 1909, created a commission to consider and arrange for a proper and fitting recognition and observance, at Gettysburg, of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg; to invite the co-operation of the congress of the United States, and of other states and commonwealths, to defend the commission's duties and prerogatives and make an appropriation for preliminary expenses.

Text of Invitation to Veterans.

The invitation is as follows: "Pennsylvania, by its commission formally invites the congress of the United States and her Sister States and Commonwealths to accept this invitation from the commonwealth upon whose soil the battle of Gettysburg was fought, to share in this important anniversary and to help make it an event worthy of its historical significance, and an occasion creditable and impressive to our great and reunited nation," and likewise invites the co-operation and participation of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the United Confederate Veterans.

State Will Act as Host.

Pennsylvania—the providing all entertainment at Gettysburg during July 1, 2, 3 and 4, 1913, for forty thousand (40,000) "honorably discharged veterans of the Civil war," and she and the national government together, as provided by the act of congress of August 26, 1912, by each paying $150,000.00 for the war department with the $300,000.00 total, to create and maintain a great camp around the battlefield.

Camp Accommodations.

The camp comprises some two hundred and eighty contiguous acres, starting about two hundred yards from the high water mark monument on the battlefield, and lying to the southwest of the town and partly upon the scene of the first day's fight, consists of 5,000 tents, regularly holding twelve men each, but now to hold but eight veterans, each veteran being supplied with a separate cot. The Pennsylvania commission having charge of the order of exercises during the celebration; the physical control of the camp and grounds and the movements of troops and marching bodies therein to be in charge of the secretary of war, under such officers as he may detail for that purpose.

Free Transportation To and From Gettysburg.

With each commonwealth, state and territory rests absolutely the determination, as each deems best, to what veterans of the Civil war it will issue free transportation. Pennsylvania's invitation being that to such "honorably discharged veterans of the Civil war" as come to Gettysburg for the above celebration, either upon free transportation or at their own expense, and present proper credentials proving them to be such veterans, she will provide, food, shelter and entertainment during that period, but she furnishes free transportation to no one, save only to her own veterans or veterans now resident within her borders, and to them only under legislative direction, which is now pending in her general assembly; the national government furnishing no free transportation at all.

The Truck Line Passenger association in whose territory Gettysburg is, has granted a one and three-fifths round-trip excursion rate, good going June 25 and returning to original starting point by July 15, a twenty-day ticket, good only on same route going and coming and costing two cents per mile, but each state must make its own arrangements with the similar associations covering the territory from that state to Pennsylvania. The railroads at Gettysburg refuse, because of lack of room, to park or accommodate there any cars on side tracks.

Program for Four Days.

The program for the four days' exercises and entertainment is not yet perfected in detail, but the tentative suggestions are:

July 1—Veterans' Day: Appropriate exercises under the joint direction of the Pennsylvania commission.

Well-Trained Dog Useful to Thieves.

Governor Brown of Georgia told of a friend who bought a dog "to chase burglars, cats and tramps," but no sooner had been introduced in the domestic camp than wife wanted him trained to carry newspapers and other things for the entertainment of society. "Agreeable to his wife's wishes, my friend took the canine in hand and in a little while he had him so well trained that he would carry a package all over the town and keep it in his mouth until told to drop it.

tion of the Pennsylvania commission, and the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans.

July 2—Military Day: Under the direction of the chief of staff of the United States army. Special detachments of each arm of the regular service to participate as directed.

July 3—Civic Day: Under the direction of the governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, presiding, and participated in by the governors of the several states. Orations, sermon and music.

July 4—National Day: The chief justice of the United States presiding. Forenoon, oration by the president of the United States. High noon, he to lay the cornerstone of a great peace memorial. Evening, fireworks.

To Hold Reunion in Great Tent.

A great tent, seating between ten thousand (10,000) and fifteen thousand (15,000) veterans, will be erected immediately adjoining the camp, and therein will occur the above exercises, excepting the military parade and fireworks, and therein, save for the hours set apart for the above exercises, the veterans may hold all reunions they may desire, the tent being arranged to be subdivided into numerous separate enclosures. All veterans of the Civil war, north and south, are urged to wear their army, corps, division, brigade and society badges, as a means of identification to their comrades in like commands. In the expectation that it will assist in imparting information as to when and where their different organizations meet, and in bringing together comrades who would otherwise, by reason of lapse of time, fail to recognize each other.

40,000 Veterans Expected.

It is expected that 40,000 veterans of the war, not all of them, however, survivors of the Gettysburg battle, will be found encamped upon the field when reveille sounds on the morning of July 1. It will be a different revelle than that which the life and drum corps of the two great armies sounded fifty years ago. The call to awakening will be a call to a peaceful celebration while the call to the awakening in July, 1863, was a call of armies to conflict and, to thousands of men, a call to death.

For years the veterans have been looking forward to this reunion. It is probable that there will be present many thousands of survivors of the battle.

Many of the states of the Union, north as well as south, have made appropriation to send their veterans to the Gettysburg reunion and to pay all other expenses. The battle of Gettysburg is recognized as the turning point of the war between the states. It has been called time and again one of the decisive battles of the world. Generally it is recognized that Gettysburg decided the great conflict, helped in the decision probably by the fall of Vicksburg on the Mississippi, which took place virtually at the moment that the conflict on the Pennsylvania field was decided in favor of the northern arms.

Large Sum for Entertainment.

The battle of Gettysburg commission of the state of Pennsylvania has a large sum of money at its disposal for the entertainment of the visiting veterans, and the thousands of persons who will accompany them. Hospitality is to mark the days. Fifty years ago Pennsylvania sided in the work of repelling the visitors from the south. In early July next the same state will have its arms wide open in welcome to the men wearing the gray. Entertainments of various kinds will be offered the visiting veterans, but it is pretty well understood that their deep interest in revisiting the scenes where they fought, Little Round Top, Oak Ridge, Cemetery Hill, Culp's Hill, Rock Creek, the Stone Wall and other places will hold them largely to the pleasures and to the sadnesses of personal reminiscences. Arm in arm with the Union soldiers the Confederate soldiers will retrace the battleground. They will look over the field of Pickett's desperate charge. They will retrace the marching steps of Longstreet's corps. They will go to the place where Meade had his headquarters and to the place from which Lee directed his southern forces in battle.

It is said that this contemplated reunion has induced more interest among the old soldiers of the north and the south than any event which has happened since the day that the war closed. There is today at Gettysburg a great national park, in which is included a cemetery where thousands of soldier dead are buried. The United States government and the legislature of Pennsylvania worked together to make a park of the battlefield and to mark accurately every point in it which has historic interest.

It is expected that much good will come from the reunion of the Blue and the Gray on the battlefield of Gettysburg. Time has healed many wounds. The old soldiers have forgotten their animosities more readily than have the civilians. It is thought that this great coming together in peace of two once conflicting hosts will mark the passing of the last trace of the bitterness of the war between the states of this great Union.

Having tried unsuccessfully various highly recommended recipes for dislodging selfish passengers from coveted seats, the woman who swung from a strap in front of the sandy aunty tried talking to him to her husband. As a peroration to her harangue, she said impressively:

"If you, James, should ever be pligish enough to sit down while there was a woman in the car left standing, I would never speak to you again as long as I live."

The sandy man looked up then. "Lucky devil," he said. "Not many of us could purchase peace at that price."

The making of the useful tablecookcase of which we give a sketch is extremely simple, and may be undertaken by the amateur carpenter without fear of failure.

It can be carried out to suit requirements, and is composed of four pieces of wood, which can be dutalled together or fastened together with screws.

Well-planed wood about half or three-quarters of an inch in thickness should be used for the upper part, and for the base a piece of wood of at least an inch in thickness will be required, and it should be rounded at the corners and bevelled at the edges.

It is then joined with brass handles are fastened on with screws, by which the case and contents may be lifted and moved when occasion requires.
Suitable handles, with brass screws to fit, may be obtained at any iron-monger's at a trifling cost. When complete, the case can be stained a nice dark green and afterwards varnished.

A case of this kind will be found extremely useful upon a writing table, for the few books of reference that are always necessary to have at hand, and in a bedroom also, placed, perhaps, upon the chest of drawers. It will be very handy for holding just a few of the favorite books that one likes to have at hand.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

THE PRESS IS A TALKING MACHINE

The local press, I ween,
Is a talking machine,
And its music is grand
As tunes float o'er the land;
In fancy checked
Its wonderful record
Laughs and sings, sings and lolls
Social paragraphs.

The country press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
Of singing ability
And news agility;
It sings in a high key
Of what the town's to be;
It grabs each small item--
And will never slight 'em!

The weekly press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
Of electricity.
Playing for you and me;
We hear in silence rapt
The glad songs that are apt
To tell of the homefolk,
Of friend rich, or friend broke.

The old town press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
That we leave right at home
When we go out to roam
To sing of our mother
And sister and brother--
In its hymns we rejoice
When we hear its big voice!

The village press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
That never needs winding,
And is always finding
An old song that is new,
Revamping it for you;
Glory to its loud tone--
It's musical as a loon!

The backwood press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
That repairs broken souls--
And fills the big mudholes;
It makes the town's ends meet
And plums wider main street;
A friend thru thick and thin--
Dent to the old burg's sin.

The poor boss's press, I ween,
Is a talking machine
That sings sweet lays galore
In refrain and encore.
Oh, Lord, when you are thru
With the editor's stew
And ready for his rest--
Prithce, take him to Thy breast.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him.
